WOODSTOCK NEWS

Mr. Brown Spoils a Good Bear Story.

James D. ("Strawberry") Brown was in Woodstock Monday and called at The Age office to spoil a good bear story which has just gone the rounds of the State papers. The yarn told with some detail of the killing of four bears "single handed," was not quite as thrilling as it sounds, for three of the bears wer cubs and therefore comparatively easy targets.

All this slaughter followed a long chase from Plymouth into Reading finely with the famous play, and and back into Plymouth again, ac- much applause was rightfully theirs cording to the tale

But Mr. Brown says there is no Abe Simonds in Plymouth; at least bear killing person.

Furthermore, Mr. Brown says there has not been a bear killed in Plymouth this winter. Once in a while one is captured in that town, "Tilly Slowbuy", a homelier characbut game killing this season has been confined to hobeats and smaller by Miss Beatrice Blood Edward animals. Mr Brown would like to Daton made a very good "old gentleknow how the absurd story started.

Six Weeks More of Winter.

Sunday was Candlemas day and if the ground-hog came out he saw his sta low and returned to his hole ngain for six weeks.

No one ever sees the ground-hog probably does appear as per schedule, and this year he saw no snow,

So spring is six weeks away, ac cording to the ground-hog superstition, which is attributed to the Germ in folk lore concerning the badger, who " peeps out of his hole Candlem is day, and if he finds snow he walks abroad, while if he sees the sun he draws back into his hole,"

New Manager of the Town Building.

The management of the town building passed into new hands this week, Herbert H. Spear succeeding A. B Morgan, who has had the di rection of affairs there for some years, Mr. Spear has had considerate heatrical experience. He is familiar with a manager's duties and in tak ing held of the work, which will include the care of the building, bookings, rentals and stage management (L.
